

THE BOSTON MORNING POST.

PUBLISHED DAILY, AT NO. 21, WATER STREET, BY CHARLES GORDON GREENE.

VOLUME VII.—NO. 27.

POETRY.

RECIPROCAL AFFECTION.

To love—to love, and be beloved—
They only, who its bliss have proved,
Can know its ecstasy or worth.
'Tis sweet to love—but, oh! to be
Beloved again, is doubly sweet!
A name from Deity,
Prompting congenial hearts to meet:
It is a beam from that bright sun,
Which lights angelic hosts above,
Melting and mingling into one
Two kindred souls—for "God is love."

FIRST IMPRESSIONS, OR NOTES BY THE WAY.

BY NATHANIEL P. WILLIS.

CORFU.—Unpopularity of British rule—superstition of the Greeks—accuracy of the descriptions in the Odyssey—advantage of the Greek costume—the Paxian Isles—Cape Leucas, or Sappho's leap—Bay of Navarino, ancient Pylos—Modon—Coran's Bay—Cape Angelo—Isle of Cythera.

CORFU.—Called on one of the officers of the tenth this morning, and found lying on his table two books upon Corfu. They were from the circulating library of the town, much thumbed, and contained the most unqualified strictures on the English administration in the Islands. In one of them, by a Count or Colonel Boig de St. Vincent, a Frenchman, the Corfiotes were taunted with their slavish submission, and called upon to shake off the yoke of British dominion in the most inflammatory language. Such books in Italy or France would be burnt by the hangman, and prohibited on penalty of death. Here, with a haughty consciousness of superiority, which must be galling enough to an Ionian who is capable of feeling, they circulate uncensured in two languages, and the officers of the abused government read them for their amusement, and return them coolly to go their rounds among the people. They have twenty-five hundred troops upon the island, and they trouble themselves little about what is thought of them. They confess that their government is excessively unpopular, the officers are excluded from the native society, and the soldiers are scowled upon in the streets. The case is said to be very much the same in the other three islands under British protection.

The body of St. Spiridon was carried through the streets of Corfu to-day, sitting bolt upright in a sedan-chair, and accompanied by the whole population. He is the great saint of the Greek church, and such is his influence, that the English government thought proper, under Sir Frederick Adam's administration, to compel the officers to walk in the procession. The saint was dried at his death, and makes a neat, black mummy, sans eyes and nose, but otherwise quite perfect. He was carried to-day by four men in a very splendid sedan, shaking from side to side with the motion, preceded by one of the bands of music from the English regiments. Sick children were thrown under the feet of the bearers, half dead people brought to the doors as he passed, and every species of disgusting mummery practised. The show lasted about four hours, and was, on the whole, attended with more marks of superstition than anything I found in Italy. I was told that the better educated Christians of the Greek church, disbelieve the saint's miracles. The whole body of the Corfiote ecclesiastics were in the procession, however.

I passed the first watch in the hammock-nettings to-night, enjoying inexpressibly the phenomena of this brilliant climate. The stars seem burning like lamps in the absolute clearness of the atmosphere. Meteors shoot constantly with a slow liquid course, over the sky. The air comes off from the land laden with the breath of the wild thyme, and the water around the ship is another deep blue heaven, motionless with its studded constellations. The frigate seems suspended between them.

We have little idea, while coming an irksome school task, how strongly the "unwilling lore" is rooting itself in the imagination. The frigate lies perhaps half a mile from the most interesting scenes of the Odyssey. I have been recalling from the long neglected stores of memory, the beautiful descriptions of the court of King Alcinous, and of the meeting of his matchless daughter with Ulysses. The whole web of the poet's fable has gradually unwound, and the lamps ashore, and the outline of the hills, in the deceiving dimness of night, have entered into the delusion with the facility of a dream. Every scene in Homer may be traced to this day, the blind old poet's topography was so admirable. It was over the point of land sloping down to the right, that the Princess Nausicaa, went with her handmaids to wash her bridal robes in the running streams. The description still guides the traveller to the spot where the damsels of the royal maid spread the linen on the grass, and commenced the sports that waked Ulysses from his slumbers in the bed of leaves.

Ashore with one of the officers this morning, amusing ourselves with trying on dresses in a Greek tailor's shop. It quite puts one out of conceit with these miserable European fashions. The easy and flowing juk-tanilla, the unembarrassed leggins, the open sleeve of the collarless jacket leaving the throat exposed, and the handsome close-binding girdle from it, seems to me the very dress dictated by reason and nature. The richest suit in the shop, a superb red velvet, wrought with gold, was priced at one hundred and forty dollars. The more sober colors were much cheaper. A dress lasts several years.

We made our farewell visits to the officers of the English regiments, who had overwhelmed us with hospitality during our stay, and went on board to get under way with the noon breeze. We were accompanied to the ship, not as the hero of Homer, when he left the same port, by three damsel of the royal train, bearing "one a tunic, another a rich casket, and a third bread and wine" for his voyage, but by Mrs Thompson and Mrs Wilson, soldiers' wives and washerwomen, with baskets of hurriedly dried linen, pinned, every bundle, with a neat bill in shillings and half-pence.

Ulysses slept all the way from Corcyra to Ithaca. He lost a great deal of fine scenery. The passage between Corfu and Albania is beautiful. We ran past the southern cape of the island with a free wind, and are now off the Paxian Isles, where, according to Plutarch, Emilianus the rhetorician, voyaging by night, "heard a voice louder than human, announcing the death of Pan." A "schoolboy midshipman" is breaking the same silence with "on deck, all hands! on deck, all of you!"

Off the mouth of the Alpheus. If he still chases Arethusa under the sea, and she makes straight for Sicily, her bed is beneath our keel. The moon is pouring her broad light over the ocean, the shadows of the rigging on the deck lie in clear and definite lines, the sailors of the watch sit around upon the guns in silence, and the ship, with her clouds of snowy sail spread aloft, is stealing through the water with the noiseless motion of a swan. Even the gallant man-of-war seems steeped in the spirit of the scene. The hour wants but an "Ionian Myrrh" to fill the last void of the heart.

BORO. RICO MOLASSES AND SUGAR.—73 Hds. 10 Tiers of prime Retailing Molasses—10 hds. superior Porto Rico Sugar, now landing and for sale by JOHN TYLER, No. 9 Central wharf. June 6

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 14, 1834.

PRICE $6 PER ANN. IN ADVANCE.

POETRY.

RECIPROCAL AFFECTION.

To love—to love, and be beloved—
They only, who its bliss have proved,
Can know its ecstasy or worth.
'Tis sweet to love—but, oh! to be
Beloved again, is doubly sweet!
A name from Deity,
Prompting congenial hearts to meet:
It is a beam from that bright sun,
Which lights angelic hosts above,
Melting and mingling into one
Two kindred souls—for "God is love."

FIRST IMPRESSIONS, OR NOTES BY THE WAY.

BY NATHANIEL P. WILLIS.

CORFU.—Unpopularity of British rule—superstition of the Greeks—accuracy of the descriptions in the Odyssey—advantage of the Greek costume—the Paxian Isles—Cape Leucas, or Sappho's leap—Bay of Navarino, ancient Pylos—Modon—Coran's Bay—Cape Angelo—Isle of Cythera.

CORFU.—Called on one of the officers of the tenth this morning, and found lying on his table two books upon Corfu. They were from the circulating library of the town, much thumbed, and contained the most unqualified strictures on the English administration in the Islands. In one of them, by a Count or Colonel Boig de St. Vincent, a Frenchman, the Corfiotes were taunted with their slavish submission, and called upon to shake off the yoke of British dominion in the most inflammatory language. Such books in Italy or France would be burnt by the hangman, and prohibited on penalty of death. Here, with a haughty consciousness of superiority, which must be galling enough to an Ionian who is capable of feeling, they circulate uncensured in two languages, and the officers of the abused government read them for their amusement, and return them coolly to go their rounds among the people. They have twenty-five hundred troops upon the island, and they trouble themselves little about what is thought of them. They confess that their government is excessively unpopular, the officers are excluded from the native society, and the soldiers are scowled upon in the streets. The case is said to be very much the same in the other three islands under British protection.

The body of St. Spiridon was carried through the streets of Corfu to-day, sitting bolt upright in a sedan-chair, and accompanied by the whole population. He is the great saint of the Greek church, and such is his influence, that the English government thought proper, under Sir Frederick Adam's administration, to compel the officers to walk in the procession. The saint was dried at his death, and makes a neat, black mummy, sans eyes and nose, but otherwise quite perfect. He was carried to-day by four men in a very splendid sedan, shaking from side to side with the motion, preceded by one of the bands of music from the English regiments. Sick children were thrown under the feet of the bearers, half dead people brought to the doors as he passed, and every species of disgusting mummery practised. The show lasted about four hours, and was, on the whole, attended with more marks of superstition than anything I found in Italy. I was told that the better educated Christians of the Greek church, disbelieve the saint's miracles. The whole body of the Corfiote ecclesiastics were in the procession, however.

I passed the first watch in the hammock-nettings to-night, enjoying inexpressibly the phenomena of this brilliant climate. The stars seem burning like lamps in the absolute clearness of the atmosphere. Meteors shoot constantly with a slow liquid course, over the sky. The air comes off from the land laden with the breath of the wild thyme, and the water around the ship is another deep blue heaven, motionless with its studded constellations. The frigate seems suspended between them.

We have little idea, while coming an irksome school task, how strongly the "unwilling lore" is rooting itself in the imagination. The frigate lies perhaps half a mile from the most interesting scenes of the Odyssey. I have been recalling from the long neglected stores of memory, the beautiful descriptions of the court of King Alcinous, and of the meeting of his matchless daughter with Ulysses. The whole web of the poet's fable has gradually unwound, and the lamps ashore, and the outline of the hills, in the deceiving dimness of night, have entered into the delusion with the facility of a dream. Every scene in Homer may be traced to this day, the blind old poet's topography was so admirable. It was over the point of land sloping down to the right, that the Princess Nausicaa, went with her handmaids to wash her bridal robes in the running streams. The description still guides the traveller to the spot where the damsels of the royal maid spread the linen on the grass, and commenced the sports that waked Ulysses from his slumbers in the bed of leaves.

Ashore with one of the officers this morning, amusing ourselves with trying on dresses in a Greek tailor's shop. It quite puts one out of conceit with these miserable European fashions. The easy and flowing juk-tanilla, the unembarrassed leggins, the open sleeve of the collarless jacket leaving the throat exposed, and the handsome close-binding girdle from it, seems to me the very dress dictated by reason and nature. The richest suit in the shop, a superb red velvet, wrought with gold, was priced at one hundred and forty dollars. The more sober colors were much cheaper. A dress lasts several years.

We made our farewell visits to the officers of the English regiments, who had overwhelmed us with hospitality during our stay, and went on board to get under way with the noon breeze. We were accompanied to the ship, not as the hero of Homer, when he left the same port, by three damsel of the royal train, bearing "one a tunic, another a rich casket, and a third bread and wine" for his voyage, but by Mrs Thompson and Mrs Wilson, soldiers' wives and washerwomen, with baskets of hurriedly dried linen, pinned, every bundle, with a neat bill in shillings and half-pence.

Ulysses slept all the way from Corcyra to Ithaca. He lost a great deal of fine scenery. The passage between Corfu and Albania is beautiful. We ran past the southern cape of the island with a free wind, and are now off the Paxian Isles, where, according to Plutarch, Emilianus the rhetorician, voyaging by night, "heard a voice louder than human, announcing the death of Pan." A "schoolboy midshipman" is breaking the same silence with "on deck, all hands! on deck, all of you!"

Off the mouth of the Alpheus. If he still chases Arethusa under the sea, and she makes straight for Sicily, her bed is beneath our keel. The moon is pouring her broad light over the ocean, the shadows of the rigging on the deck lie in clear and definite lines, the sailors of the watch sit around upon the guns in silence, and the ship, with her clouds of snowy sail spread aloft, is stealing through the water with the noiseless motion of a swan. Even the gallant man-of-war seems steeped in the spirit of the scene. The hour wants but an "Ionian Myrrh" to fill the last void of the heart.

BORO. RICO MOLASSES AND SUGAR.—73 Hds. 10 Tiers of prime Retailing Molasses—10 hds. superior Porto Rico Sugar, now landing and for sale by JOHN TYLER, No. 9 Central wharf. June 6

PUBLISHED DAILY, AT NO. 21, WATER STREET, BY CHARLES GORDON GREENE.

VOLUME VII.—NO. 27.

POETRY.

RECIPROCAL AFFECTION.

To love—to love, and be beloved—
They only, who its bliss have proved,
Can know its ecstasy or worth.
'Tis sweet to love—but, oh! to be
Beloved again, is doubly sweet!
A name from Deity,
Prompting congenial hearts to meet:
It is a beam from that bright sun,
Which lights angelic hosts above,
Melting and mingling into one
Two kindred souls—for "God is love."

FIRST IMPRESSIONS, OR NOTES BY THE WAY.

BY NATHANIEL P. WILLIS.

CORFU.—Unpopularity of British rule—superstition of the Greeks—accuracy of the descriptions in the Odyssey—advantage of the Greek costume—the Paxian Isles—Cape Leucas, or Sappho's leap—Bay of Navarino, ancient Pylos—Modon—Coran's Bay—Cape Angelo—Isle of Cythera.

CORFU.—Called on one of the officers of the tenth this morning, and found lying on his table two books upon Corfu. They were from the circulating library of the town, much thumbed, and contained the most unqualified strictures on the English administration in the Islands. In one of them, by a Count or Colonel Boig de St. Vincent, a Frenchman, the Corfiotes were taunted with their slavish submission, and called upon to shake off the yoke of British dominion in the most inflammatory language. Such books in Italy or France would be burnt by the hangman, and prohibited on penalty of death. Here, with a haughty consciousness of superiority, which must be galling enough to an Ionian who is capable of feeling, they circulate uncensured in two languages, and the officers of the abused government read them for their amusement, and return them coolly to go their rounds among the people. They have twenty-five hundred troops upon the island, and they trouble themselves little about what is thought of them. They confess that their government is excessively unpopular, the officers are excluded from the native society, and the soldiers are scowled upon in the streets. The case is said to be very much the same in the other three islands under British protection.

The body of St. Spiridon was carried through the streets of Corfu to-day, sitting bolt upright in a sedan-chair, and accompanied by the whole population. He is the great saint of the Greek church, and such is his influence, that the English government thought proper, under Sir Frederick Adam's administration, to compel the officers to walk in the procession. The saint was dried at his death, and makes a neat, black mummy, sans eyes and nose, but otherwise quite perfect. He was carried to-day by four men in a very splendid sedan, shaking from side to side with the motion, preceded by one of the bands of music from the English regiments. Sick children were thrown under the feet of the bearers, half dead people brought to the doors as he passed, and every species of disgusting mummery practised. The show lasted about four hours, and was, on the whole, attended with more marks of superstition than anything I found in Italy. I was told that the better educated Christians of the Greek church, disbelieve the saint's miracles. The whole body of the Corfiote ecclesiastics were in the procession, however.

I passed the first watch in the hammock-nettings to-night, enjoying inexpressibly the phenomena of this brilliant climate. The stars seem burning like lamps in the absolute clearness of the atmosphere. Meteors shoot constantly with a slow liquid course, over the sky. The air comes off from the land laden with the breath of the wild thyme, and the water around the ship is another deep blue heaven, motionless with its studded constellations. The frigate seems suspended between them.

We have little idea, while coming an irksome school task, how strongly the "unwilling lore" is rooting itself in the imagination. The frigate lies perhaps half a mile from the most interesting scenes of the Odyssey. I have been recalling from the long neglected stores of memory, the beautiful descriptions of the court of King Alcinous, and of the meeting of his matchless daughter with Ulysses. The whole web of the poet's fable has gradually unwound, and the lamps ashore, and the outline of the hills, in the deceiving dimness of night, have entered into the delusion with the facility of a dream. Every scene in Homer may be traced to this day, the blind old poet's topography was so admirable. It was over the point of land sloping down to the right, that the Princess Nausicaa, went with her handmaids to wash her bridal robes in the running streams. The description still guides the traveller to the spot where the damsels of the royal maid spread the linen on the grass, and commenced the sports that waked Ulysses from his slumbers in the bed of leaves.

Ashore with one of the officers this morning, amusing ourselves with trying on dresses in a Greek tailor's shop. It quite puts one out of conceit with these miserable European fashions. The easy and flowing juk-tanilla, the unembarrassed leggins, the open sleeve of the collarless jacket leaving the throat exposed, and the handsome close-binding girdle from it, seems to me the very dress dictated by reason and nature. The richest suit in the shop, a superb red velvet, wrought with gold, was priced at one hundred and forty dollars. The more sober colors were much cheaper. A dress lasts several years.

We made our farewell visits to the officers of the English regiments, who had overwhelmed us with hospitality during our stay, and went on board to get under way with the noon breeze. We were accompanied to the ship, not as the hero of Homer, when he left the same port, by three damsel of the royal train, bearing "one a tunic, another a rich casket, and a third bread and wine" for his voyage, but by Mrs Thompson and Mrs Wilson, soldiers' wives and washerwomen, with baskets of hurriedly dried linen, pinned, every bundle, with a neat bill in shillings and half-pence.

Ulysses slept all the way from Corcyra to Ithaca. He lost a great deal of fine scenery. The passage between Corfu and Albania is beautiful. We ran past the southern cape of the island with a free wind, and are now off the Paxian Isles, where, according to Plutarch, Emilianus the rhetorician, voyaging by night, "heard a voice louder than human, announcing the death of Pan." A "schoolboy midshipman" is breaking the same silence with "on deck, all hands! on deck, all of you!"

Off the mouth of the Alpheus. If he still chases Arethusa under the sea, and she makes straight for Sicily, her bed is beneath our keel. The moon is pouring her broad light over the ocean, the shadows of the rigging on the deck lie in clear and definite lines, the sailors of the watch sit around upon the guns in silence, and the ship, with her clouds of snowy sail spread aloft, is stealing through the water with the noiseless motion of a swan. Even the gallant man-of-war seems steeped in the spirit of the scene. The hour wants but an "Ionian Myrrh" to fill the last void of the heart.

BORO. RICO MOLASSES AND SUGAR.—73 Hds. 10 Tiers of prime Retailing Molasses—10 hds. superior Porto Rico Sugar, now landing and for sale by JOHN TYLER, No. 9 Central wharf. June 6

VOLUME VII.—NO. 27.

POETRY.

RECIPROCAL AFFECTION.

To love—to love, and be beloved—
They only, who its bliss have proved,
Can know its ecstasy or worth.
'Tis sweet to love—but, oh! to be
Beloved again, is doubly sweet!
A name from Deity,
Prompting congenial hearts to meet:
It is a beam from that bright sun,
Which lights angelic hosts above,
Melting and mingling into one
Two kindred souls—for "God is love."

FIRST IMPRESSIONS, OR NOTES BY THE WAY.

BY NATHANIEL P. WILLIS.

CORFU.—Unpopularity of British rule—superstition of the Greeks—accuracy of the descriptions in the Odyssey—advantage of the Greek costume—the Paxian Isles—Cape Leucas, or Sappho's leap—Bay of Navarino, ancient Pylos—Modon—Coran's Bay—Cape Angelo—Isle of Cythera.

CORFU.—Called on one of the officers of the tenth this morning, and found lying on his table two books upon Corfu. They were from the circulating library of the town, much thumbed, and contained the most unqualified strictures on the English administration in the Islands. In one of them, by a Count or Colonel Boig de St. Vincent, a Frenchman, the Corfiotes were taunted with their slavish submission, and called upon to shake off the yoke of British dominion in the most inflammatory language. Such books in Italy or France would be burnt by the hangman, and prohibited on penalty of death. Here, with a haughty consciousness of superiority, which must be galling enough to an Ionian who is capable of feeling, they circulate uncensured in two languages, and the officers of the abused government read them for their amusement, and return them coolly to go their rounds among the people. They have twenty-five hundred troops upon the island, and they trouble themselves little about what is thought of them. They confess that their government is excessively unpopular, the officers are excluded from the native society, and the soldiers are scowled upon in the streets. The case is said to be very much the same in the other three islands under British protection.

The body of St. Spiridon was carried through the streets of Corfu to-day, sitting bolt upright in a sedan-chair, and accompanied by the whole population. He is the great saint of the Greek church, and such is his influence, that the English government thought proper, under Sir Frederick Adam's administration, to compel the officers to walk in the procession. The saint was dried at his

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 11, 1834.

STENOGRAPHIC GLIMPSES OF CONGRESS—No. 161.

Washington, June 6, 1834.—The Senate were entertained with an interlude this morning, between Dr Linn, of Mo., and Mr Poindexter, of Miss., (O my!) in which the latter was left in the "first ditch," as he was at New Orleans. Dr Linn had reported a Bill relative to some lands in Mo., on which the settlers had "squatted," like the "tounds" of Eden, before the territory had become a State; Mr P. being on the same committee, notified of its sittings, and consenting to the Bill, nevertheless moved to have the accompanying documents printed, and complained that no report accompanied the Bill. As a course of this kind was calculated to retard the progress of the bill, and postpone it to another session, Dr Linn very candidly informed his honorable colleague, that he considered his conduct "mean and contemptible." This drew a courteous response from Mr P. in which he intimated that he should not regard anything coming from that quarter, at the same time doubling up his digits with a sort of Thrasonical brag. The Dr rejoined in no measured terms, alluding to the private and public character of his antagonist, as well as his morals and courage, and concluded with saying, that respect for the dignity of the Senate alone prevented him from expressing his sentiments of the member from Mis. in language appropriate to his character and conduct. In the course of the dialogue, the Dr took an opportunity to contradict flatly all Mr P's assertions, and left him to ruminant upon them. Dr Linn is naturally a very mild, amiable man, and as inoffensive as a flask of Dupont, till he encounters a spark of insult, and then, presto! he explodes as quick! He is about 45 years of age, rather above the middling stature, of compact and muscular make—dark hair and eyes, and of an animated and pleasing expression of countenance.

He left his seat, and retired to the recess immediately after this incident, and several of the opposition Senators came round him, as well as his friends; but poor Poindexter was "left alone in his glory." He was really an object of pity as well as contempt, for nobody went near him. After the lapse of some time, he was observed to go up to Mr Frelinghuysen, and converse a moment in a manner that indicated he wanted some ghostly advice; for the supposition that he asked his "friendly" aid in an affair of honor, is forbidden by the well known fact that he belongs to the church militant, and is of course a non-combatant. Every body said when they saw the Christian meekness of the Senator from Mis., "that Biddy wont fight." There is no probability of the "affair" resulting in any "legislative actions," any more than Mr Clay's resolutions; and it is seriously believed that the Senate will not grant the Senator (who professes to be so ready to peril his life for his honor) even an executive session, to lash up the affair with secrecy, and put his apology on record.

By the way, I heard to-day from the thousand echoes that reverberate in the rotunda, that affairs of honor arise sometimes in secret session, as well as get adjusted there. It is said and believed, that about ten days since, in secret session, that an Honorable Senator from Ala. challenged one of the late Commissioners of Ghent; but it is not known whether he will accept the challenge on account of the depositories being removed; and it is thought he will not fight till after he has explained the "errors of fact now existing"—no doubt unintentional—relating to the treaty. If they would only measure "twelve paces" in the Senate chamber, it would be doing "executive business" with a witness. Panics have taken the place of pistols, and it is not at all probable we shall see any powder in all Congress, except what an Honorable Senator from Connecticut wears—who, by the way, is the finest specimen, both in dress and person, of a gentleman of the old school, that I have ever seen—I mean Judge Smith. It is not, however, simply his person that commands him to my respect, but a proper sense of his legislative duty and senatorial dignity, which elevates him above the low ean of party prejudice. Hereby hangs a tail. One of the Vtg "Groaners" one day groaned an argument against the administration upon Judge Smith's being turned out of office; but the Judge instantly rose and upset him and his argument, by saying that he had not been turned out, and that he had nothing to complain of in his case against the administration; on the contrary, he saw nothing in its conduct as regarded him, but what was fair and honorable. Justice requires me to add a word touching his colleague, Gov. Tomlinson. In open session I have seen nothing in the conduct of either of these Senators, but what has been high-minded and honorable, during this "panic" session. They have voted with their party; this was their duty; but they have not degraded themselves with their party; and this is to their honor. I must say for little Rhody too, that she has not been "kantankerous;" and further, I say not.

RELS EFFENDI.

The Bank party have raised quite a shout, because John N. Steele, a Bank partizan, is elected from the district in Maryland, lately represented in Congress by Mr Dennis, a Bank partizan, deceased, over Mr Stewart, the Democratic candidate.

The state of the polls at this election, compared with the election for President in 1832, is as follows:—

Bank majority for Steele in 1832.		For Clay in 1832.
Worcester,	311	528
Somerset,	366	336
Dorchester,	491	281
	1168	1145
Deduct	1145
Gain,	23 votes.	Truly a great Wig victory.

Drowned.—Coroner Shute held an inquest yesterday morning over the body of Daniel Keating, who fell through a hole in Cragie's Bridge, one night, about a fortnight ago. The keepers of the bathhouse heard a splash in the water at the time, and got out of their beds, manned a boat, and looked round under the bridge for some time, without success. The next morning a bat and handkerchief were found. Keating had been employed on the rail-road.

The dead body of a man was lately found at Brown's Ferry, on the Tennessee river. The fore part of the head and face were entirely gone, and a large wound was made in one of his arms, apparently with an axe—he was stout made, and had no clothing on except his drawers, socks, flannel and outside shirts, which makes it appear evident he has been murdered in bed and thrown into the river.

The New York Traveller "hasn't been 'bout' much," we guess, if he can't tell what a shoted colt is. Heavy rain save you man from a more painful knowledge of it than we will now in part;—know ye then, that it is a dried twisted piece of colt's skin, with a shot in one end of it—made for man and beast.

Steam Navigation between Lowell and Dunstable, N. H.—The Dunstable Telegraph of the 9th inst., contains the following paragraph:—

"Arrived at this port, on Tuesday last—our first appearance upon our waters—the new Steam Boat, the "Old Capit," Capt. Tyler, from Lowell—an on experience built, taut little craft, and of pleasure."

Steam Navigation between Lowell and Dunstable, N. H.—The Dunstable Telegraph of the 9th inst., contains the following paragraph:—

"Arrived at this port, on Tuesday last—our first appearance upon our waters—the new Steam Boat, the "Old Capit," Capt. Tyler, from Lowell—an on experience built, taut little craft, and of pleasure."

Col. Duane has issued proposals for reviving the Aurora.

A dog supposed to be rabid, bit several people in Philadelphia a few days since.

The Times.—Men generally and naturally follow that course, and approve those measures, which they think will most promote their own interests. The crafty seek, by various means, to ensnare, deceive, and profit by the labor of the less intelligent; and we know of no instance where the game has been more successfully played, than by the Bank and the American System people—for these two are but parts of a grand whole. The American System was a scheme to plunder the public, for the benefit of a privileged class. The Bank is to aid and perfect the same plan.—We shall pass over the very extraordinary principles on which the import tax is laid, to benefit the American System, whereby the poor are taxed fifty per cent. on all woolens, and a hundred per cent. on all coarse cottons, while the rich can clothe themselves in silks and fine linens, without any duty or tax at all, and come to the manner of collecting the import tax. Before the law of 1832, a credit was given by the government upon all duties, where they amounted to fifty dollars, and upwards, on an average of nearly twelve months; by the law of 1832, the duties were payable in cash, on all sums less than two hundred dollars, and on woolens and cottons of every description; and the credit on the residue was reduced to an average of four months and one half. The practical operation of the law is found to be this, about one third of the whole import duties are now paid in cash, at the time of importation, and the credit reduced on the other two thirds, from the average of twelve months, to the average of four months and one half. This law, relative to Custom House credits, was intended, by those who projected it, to bear, and it does bear, directly and oppressively, upon the importers, of small capital and limited credit, particularly upon the young importer. It was designed to throw a monopoly of the business into the hands of the rich, and those who have rich relations, from whom, or through whose influence, credit can be obtained.—

The Earl of Burlington died at his house in Piccadilly, on the 9th ult. His Lordship was in his 81st year. A letter from Constantinople, dated March 16th, mentions the remarkable circumstance of a fall of snow there on that day. The King of Denmark has issued an ordinance declaring that there shall be the most perfect equality between all the free subjects in the Danish Colonies, so that the absurd distinctions between the whites and blacks are forever abolished.

Accounts were brought to St. Helena by the French ship Lydie, of a dreadful hurricane in the Isle of France in the middle of January—the crop was injured and many vessels wrecked.

We have Canton Registers to the 5th Dec. They are full of the proceedings at home on the India Company's Charter, on which subject intense anxiety has been expressed.

LATE FROM ENGLAND.—Late accounts of an authentic nature, received from Cochinchina, state that kingdom to be in a very disturbed state at present. An extensive insurrection prevails now at Saigo, the capital of the southern and most fertile district, and the Taungnese are said to be in an open revolt against the King, who is reported to be a great tyrant.

Notwithstanding the heavy import of Cotton this week, we have experienced a good demand, and prices of all kinds have been fully supported. Sea Island's of the lower qualities, are 4d per lb. higher, and the Surats at auction sold briskly at very full rates. The import this week is 77,823 bags and the sales are 21,000 bags, viz. 350 Sea Island 9d to 17d. 19 Stained 7d to 10d to 12d—540 Bowdes 7d to 9d—5900 N. Orleans 7d to 10d to 12d—5400 Calcutta & c. 7d to 9d—1550 Perseus 10d to 11d—1100 Bahia 9d to 9d—1000 Maranhao 9d to 11d—510 Surats 5d to 7d—1000 Surats 5d to 7d per lb.

The demand for Tobacco, for home trade, continued extremely limited, and only 50 lbs. Virginia, with a few of Kentucky, had been taken. Turpentine is lower—sales about 5000 bbls American Tar in fair demand—600 bbls, sold at 12d to 13d. Montral Potashes 22d to 23s—12s 12 bbls.

LATE FROM HAVANA.—Our correspondent, the editor of the Savannah Georgian, has furnished us with intelligence from Havana to the 27th May. The United States schooner Experiment, Captain Paine, arrived at Havana on the 24th of May, from a cruise of three weeks on the north side and west end of Cuba; officers and crew in good health. The U. S. schooner Grampus, Lieut. Commandant John White, was off Havana on the 25th ultimo, sent a boat in, and sailed again the same day for Key West. The Experiment was to sail on the 27th for the Florida Reef and Pensacola.—N. Y. Com.

PETERSBURG, Va.—Another Tornado.—Yesterday afternoon the clouds began to gather in the northwest, and about 6 o'clock, assumed an awful and most threatening appearance. The lightning was very vivid, and the rain fell in torrents; the wind, although strong enough to carry off the limbs of trees, did no damage in town; but the roaring noise, which accompanied the late whirlwind, was distinctly heard, denoting a calamity to Chesterfield similar to that which so recently befell the neighboring counties on this side of the Appomattox. Only a few of the particulars have reached us, falling far short, we fear, of the full extent of the damage. The Richmond stage did not arrive until 9 o'clock, the fallen timber on the road having obstructed its passage. The passenger state that the storm, where it crossed the turnpike, extended from Bass's Hill to Swift Creek, a distance of three miles, prostrating every thing within its sweep. At Swift Creek several houses were blown down.

NANSEMOND COUNTY JUNE, 5, 1834.—A young Torando passed through this neighborhood last evening, with an original drama, written by himself, and the new and laughable farce of the "Wrong Box," in which Mr F. S. Hill finds full scope for his vivacious style of acting, in the character of Dulcimer Star, in which he is irresistibly droll and amusing. It is one of his best characters in comedy.—

It should be remembered, that though the prompter is unseen, yet his influence is by no means unfeigned, and his duties are as fatiguing, and even more unremitting than those of the actual performers: and from the inducements held out by his attractive bill, it is to be presumed that Mr Conway's claims will not be disregarded.

The Farewell Benefit of the Kemble's, at Philadelphia, on Friday evening, was a bumper—the papers say: Every nook and corner of the theatre was filled. The two plays went off with great eclat,—and after a neat speech at the close, Mr Kemble, with his daughter, retired amidst deafening applause. Both were much affected. The Intelligencer says that Mr Butler was married to Miss Kemble on Saturday morning, in Christ Church, by Bishop White.

Maj. Jack Downing has had a very successful run in Albany and Philadelphia. Blake's Major is highly praised.

Some ladies in Illinois have formed a bitter society, for the purpose of encouraging the manufacture of good butter.

Col. Duane has issued proposals for reviving the Aurora.

A dog supposed to be rabid, bit several people in Philadelphia a few days since.

The vacancies on the Committee of Commerce, occasioned by the election of Mr Foot, Governor of Connecticut, and Mr Lawrence Mayor of New York, have been filled by the appointment of Mr Gillet and Mr Lincoln.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

The Sylvans Jenkins, at New York, from Liverpool, sailed from the latter place on the 11th ult.

The London Globe of the 8th, says—"We have great satisfaction in stating that a telegraphic despatch has been received at Paris from Bayonne, dated the 6th instant, announcing that Don Carlos had embarked for England, and that the affairs of Portugal had been arranged between Don Miguel and Don Pedro. The intelligence was brought to Bayonne by the French Secretary of Embassy, who left Madrid on the 3d."

The Sun says—The Lord Nelson, at Dartmouth, from Lisbon, brings a report that Coimbra and Figuera have been taken by the Pedroites, and that Don Carlos has put himself under the protection of the British.

The London Times of the 10th contains the following extract of a letter from Toulon, dated May 1.—"On the celebration of the King's fete, the following melancholy accident occurred. At 12 o'clock, all the batteries and the ships in the road fired salutes. Two American frigates here also paid the same compliment to the day, but unfortunately the gunners of the Constellation forgot that some of their guns were loaded with shot, and firing within pistol shot of the Suffern, one of the balls entered a port hole, killed one of the sailors, and carried away the leg of another. Some of the shot entered the hull, and five or six men were wounded by splinters, and obliged to be sent to the Hospital."

Mr O'Connell expresses a desire to retire to private life, on the condition that pacific measures be extended to Ireland.

Vienna accounts of April 28, state the Duchess of Berri had just arrived at that place on her way for Prague, whether she would be accompanied by her husband, Count Luchessi Pali.

LIVERPOOL, May 10.—Mr Audubon, the celebrated ornithologist, who is at present in this town, paid a visit to the Zoological Gardens, on Thursday. He expressed himself much pleased with the arrangements, and we understand, promised to send such contributions of rare and curious American birds as he might be enabled to procure on his return to America.

A large portion of the West Cliff, beyond the mills, Raunds, has fallen into the sea.

A letter from Constantinople, dated March 16th, mentions the remarkable circumstance of a fall of snow there on that day.

The Earl of Burlington died at his house in Piccadilly, on the 9th ult. His Lordship was in his 81st year.

COPENHAGEN, March 26.—The King of Denmark has issued an ordinance declaring that there shall be the most perfect equality between all the free subjects in the Danish Colonies, so that the absurd distinctions between the whites and blacks are forever abolished.

LATE FROM ENGLAND.—Late accounts of an authentic nature, received from Cochinchina, state that kingdom to be in a very disturbed state at present. An extensive insurrection prevails now at Saigo, the capital of the southern and most fertile district, and the Taungnese are said to be in an open revolt against the King, who is reported to be a great tyrant.

Notwithstanding the heavy import of Cotton this week, we have experienced a good demand, and prices of all kinds have been fully supported. Sea Island's of the lower qualities, are 4d per lb. higher, and the Surats at auction sold briskly at very full rates. The import this week is 77,823 bags and the sales are 21,000 bags, viz. 350 Sea Island 9d to 17d. 19 Stained 7d to 10d to 12d—540 Bowdes 7d to 9d—5900 N. Orleans 7d to 10d to 12d—5400 Calcutta & c. 7d to 9d—1550 Perseus 10d to 11d—1100 Bahia 9d to 9d—1000 Maranhao 9d to 11d—510 Surats 5d to 7d—1000 Surats 5d to 7d per lb.

The demand for Tobacco, for home trade, continued extremely limited, and only 50 lbs. Virginia, with a few of Kentucky, had been taken. Turpentine is lower—sales about 5000 bbls American Tar in fair demand—600 bbls, sold at 12d to 13d. Montral Potashes 22d to 23s—12s 12 bbls.

LATE FROM HAVANA.—Our correspondent, the editor of the Savannah Georgian, has furnished us with intelligence from Havana to the 27th May. The United States schooner Experiment, Captain Paine, arrived at Havana on the 24th of May, from a cruise of three weeks on the north side and west end of Cuba; officers and crew in good health. The U. S. schooner Grampus, Lieut. Commandant John White, was off Havana on the 25th ultimo, sent a boat in, and sailed again the same day for Key West. The Experiment was to sail on the 27th for the Florida Reef and Pensacola.—N. Y. Com.

PETERSBURG, Va.—Another Tornado.—Yesterday afternoon the clouds began to gather in the northwest, and about 6 o'clock, assumed an awful and most threatening appearance. The lightning was very vivid, and the rain fell in torrents; the wind, although strong enough to carry off the limbs of trees, did no damage in town; but the roaring noise, which accompanied the late whirlwind, was distinctly heard, denoting a calamity to Chesterfield similar to that which so recently befell the neighboring counties on this side of the Appomattox. Only a few of the particulars have reached us, falling far short, we fear, of the full extent of the damage. The Richmond stage did not arrive until 9 o'clock, the fallen timber on the road having obstructed its passage. The passenger state that the storm, where it crossed the turnpike, extended from Bass's Hill to Swift Creek, a distance of three miles, prostrating every thing within its sweep. At Swift Creek several houses were blown down.

NANSEMOND COUNTY JUNE, 5, 1834.—A young Torando passed through this neighborhood last evening, with an original drama, written by himself, and the new and laughable farce of the "Wrong Box," in which Mr F. S. Hill finds full scope for his vivacious style of acting, in the character of Dulcimer Star, in which he is irresistibly droll and amusing. It is one of his best characters in comedy.—

It should be remembered, that though the prompter is unseen, yet his influence is by no means unfeigned, and his duties are as fatiguing, and even more unremitting than those of the actual performers: and from the inducements held out by his attractive bill, it is to be presumed that Mr Conway's claims will not be disregarded.

The Farewell Benefit of the Kemble's, at Philadelphia, on Friday evening, was a bumper—the papers say: Every nook and corner of the theatre was filled. The two plays went off with great eclat,—and after a neat speech at the close, Mr Kemble, with his daughter, retired amidst deafening applause. Both were much affected. The Intelligencer says that Mr Butler was married to Miss Kemble on Saturday morning, in Christ Church, by Bishop White.

Maj. Jack Downing has had a very successful run in Albany and Philadelphia. Blake's Major is highly praised.

Some ladies in Illinois have formed a bitter society, for the purpose of encouraging the manufacture of good butter.

Col. Duane has issued proposals for

TREMONT THEATRE.

MR HILL'S BENEFIT.

THIS EVENING, June 11,
Will be performed a new Comedy, entitled the
GREEN MOUNTAIN BOY.
Tompkins Mr Johnson
Jedidiah Homebred Hull
Lucy Miss McBride

Previous to which will be performed the 2d and 3d acts of
JONATHAN IN ENGLAND!
Solomon Swap Mr Hill
Fanny Mrs Smith

*² Doors open at 1-4 before 7 o'clock. Performance will commence at 1-4 past 7.

[Prices, 1st and 2d Tiers of Boxes $18. Third Tier of Boxes 75 cents. Pit 50 cents. Gallery 25 cents.]

TREMONT THEATRE.—A CARD.—MRS

KERR most respectfully announces to her friends and the public that her Benefit will take place TO-MORROW EVENING, June 12th, on which occasion MR C. H. EATON and MISS CLARKE, who have politely volunteered their services will appear for this night only, in the Play of A NEW WAY TO PAY OLD DEBTS. Sir Giles, Mr. C. H. Eaton, Margaret, Miss Clarke, her first appearance in Boston for seven years. To conclude with the new Farce of P. P., or, The Man and the Tiger.

June 11

E. PARSONS, JR. Clerk.

NOTICE.
ASSESSORS' OFFICE, FANEUIL HALL, JUNE 4, 1834.

THE Assessors of the City of Boston, hereby give notice to all the inhabitants of said city, and to all persons liable to pay taxes therein, that they will attend at their office, Faneuil Hall, during ten days from this date, to receive the valuations of estates; and persons liable to be taxed in said city, are requested to bring in, at the Assessors' Office, true and perfect lists of the polls, and schedules, and estimates of the estates, real and personal, for which they are liable to pay taxes.

Persons holding estates in trust, whether for minors or otherwise, are particularly requested to furnish the Assessors with statements in relation to their estates.

The following information may serve as a guide to assist the inhabitants in making their statements.

Full—The number of the age of sixteen years and upwards.

Real Estate—Money at interest more than they pay interest for, Shares and Stocks in Banks, Insurance Companies, Roads, Bridges and Manufacturing and other Incorporated Companies; Public Stock and Securities of all kinds; Goods, Wares and Merchandise, Stock in Trade, Vessels of all kinds, at home or abroad, with their Stores and Appurtenances, Household Furniture, including $1000 in value, Horses and Carriages, Income from Professions, Businesses, Trade or Employment, or gained by trading upon land.

Wills—Estates of persons deceased have been divided during the past year, or have changed hands from other causes, the executors, administrators, or other persons interested, are respectively requested to give notice of such changes at the Assessors' office.

SAMUEL NORWOOD, HENRY BASS, THOMAS JACKSON, Assessors.

June 11

CITY LANDS.—The Superintendent of Public Lands for the sale or lease of Lands belonging to the City, and that he may be found every day, from 8 o'clock to 10, A. M. at his Office, No. 70 State street; and every Wednesday, from 3 to 5 o'clock, P. M. at the Land Office on Washington street, (Neck) and, upon application, will appoint other convenient times, to show any Lands which are for sale or lease.

Plans may be seen at either office, showing at one view all the Lands which are to be disposed of.

ABNER BOURNE, S. P. Lands.

Boston, June 7th, 1834.

31 J 11

NOTICE.—The undersigned will offer, after this date, his extensive assortment of BONNETS, at very low prices, being anxious to close that part of his trade immediately.

On hand, a few of those splendid French Trunks, from $200 to $600—Super Open Work with Cap Crowns. Extra fine do. Also, Straw Trimmings, &c. &c. &c. Constantly on hand and at such prices as cannot fail to suit.

As the subscriber intends to close them soon, purchasers will do well to call and make their selection immediately, at No 345 Washington street.

ALEX H. PRESCOTT.

HOUSE IN VERNON ST. FOR SALE.—The three story brick Dwelling House, No. 30 Vernon street, built about three years since, in the best manner, and in good order. It contains 11 good size rooms, a good cellar, pump and water cistern, and convenient out houses. The estate is 58 feet deep by 213 feet, with one half of a passage way to the rear, of 3 feet. The house may be seen on application on the premises. Terms liberal. If June 11

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONERS FOR BUILDING A CUSTOM HOUSE IN NEW YORK, No 1 Nassau street, May 22, 1834.

SEALD PROPOSALS will be received at this office until the 25th of June next, for the furnishing and delivery of Cut Stone for the basement story of the building which is ninety feet front on Wall street, and two hundred feet on Nassau street, and about fourteen feet high. The stone will be either of the same granite of the building, and be delivered to the site of the building, cut and fitted ready to lay up, in conformity with the working plans and specifications which may be seen at this office, where further and more particular details will be furnished, on application to Mr Samuel Thompson, the Superintendent.

The proposals must be accompanied with wrought specimens of the marble or granite proposed to be used, which must be uniform in color and size, and specify the time within which the same will be delivered—none of which will probably be required before the 15th of September next.

SAMUEL SWARTWOUT, WALTER BOWNE, ELISHA TIBBITS, Commissioners.

May 24

JOS. BLUXOME, TAILOR AND WOOLLEN DRAPE.—At the Old Stand No. 3 Brattle street, has recently received a large assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres and Vests, to which he respectfully invites the attention of his friends and the public to decide on such additions as their wardrobe may require for the season.

J. B. takes this opportunity of making his acknowledgements for the liberal patronage with which he has been favored, and trusts to merit the continuance of the same, by using every necessary exertion to give satisfaction. The establishment is stocked with a general assortment of fashionable Ready Made Clothing, to which the requisite seasonal additions are constantly making, and which will be sold cheap, for cash.

JOHN STEVENS, Secretary.

JOHN PRESTON, Secretary.

STAWISIM, mar 15

THE OCEAN INSURANCE COMPANY, with a capital of $300,000,

all of which is paid in and invested according to law, to insure against all losses by SEA—and also damage by FIRE, not exceeding $20,000 on any one risk.

JOHN K. SIMPSON, President.

JOHN PRESTON, Secretary.

STAWISIM, mar 15

WINSHIPS' OXYGENATED SOAP.—This

celebrated article is for sale, in any quantity, on reasonable terms, at R. A. Newell, corner of Summer & South sts. J. P. Hall, Union street; Maynard & Noyes, Cornhill; S. Brewster & Brothers, Washington street; Lord & Rea, Merchants' Row; Allen & Co. State street; J. Kidder, Court street; W. C. Stimpson & Co. South side Faneuil Hall; also retailled by the principal Druggists in this city and throughout the United States.

31s—ep3no—mar 26

BRUCE & CO. offer a full assortment of Perfumery, at a very low rate—Soaps of all kinds—Lavender, Cologne, Honey and Orange Flower Waters—Florentine, Orris, Tooth Wash—Macaroons—Wine—Olive Oil—Hairs—Curing Powder—Gum Arabic—Pearl Powder—Eruive Salts—Hairs—Essence of Tyre—Carbolic Dentifrice for the Teeth—all the above articles, together with a very neat assortment of Jewellery and Combs, will be sold for cash at a very small profit, at 251 Washington st, 7 doors above the Marlboro' Hotel.

Also, a lot kitchen furniture.

FANTISCOPE, &c.—Just received, and for sale, by JOHN MARSH, 34 Washington street, THE FANTISCOPE, or MAGIC PICTURES, invented by Professor Stache, of Vienna. "This invention which not only engages the attention of the young, but claims the attention of the philosopher and optician, as an ingenious optical illusion, is highly pleasing and instructive."

Also, THE DIORAMA, with a great variety of other amusements and games.

JOHN MARSH, 34 Washington street, June 21

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.—A splendid dou-

belle barrelled fowling piece, with highly finished persian locks, carved stock, &c. &c. made by Louis Malherbe, of Marseilles, expressly for the present owner. It is a first rate article, has been very little used, and will be sold for about ONE HALF THE COST OF IMPORTATION. Sportsmen are invited to embrace this opportunity for furnishing themselves with a first rate gun, at a low price. Inquire at No. 21 Water street, where the gun may be seen.

istf June 6

MAN FOUND.—An insane man, or idiot, supposed to be about 30 years old, was admitted to the House of Industry, at South Boston, 31st ultimo, and no information can be obtained from him who he is or whence he came. He is of full size, sandy complexion and poorly clad. It is supposed that he has wandered from his home, or has been brought into this city by some party, to be rid of his support.

"31 ju 10

WANTED.—A first rate young man, as a waiter in a hotel.

Also, a good pastry cook, in a hotel.

Also, 10 or 12 good cooks, in this city.

Also, 8 or 10 girls, in the country, a short distance from the city. Inquire at No. 19 School street.

June 10

BATHING.—The Western Avenue, Wm. and Gold.

Baths are now open.

The ladies department is under the care of female attendants.

Tickets can be had at E. S. Holden's, Druggist, corner of Beacon and Charles street, or at the Bathing house.

N. B. Toll free to the baths.

cop2m June 10

NEW GOODS.—Just received 2 bales superfine English Carpets, handsome patterns. Also, a lot of Painted Floor Cloths, elegant patterns.

Likewise, 1 case India Rubber Table Cloths, which will be sold very low.

JOB TABER, 57 Washington street.

June 7

FRENCH SILK UMBRELLAS.—The subscriber

has just received a fresh supply of dark silk Umbrellas, a very neat article, which will be sold very low, at No. 8 State street, north side City Hall, and 3 doors from Washington street.

CHARLES I. HORSMAN. march 27

istf

STRAW CARPETING.—ELIAS STONE BREW-

ER, No. 414, Washington street, has received a lot of 108 pieces superior Straw Carpeting, white and fancy checks, 5-4, 6-4 and 7-4 widths, which he will sell by the piece or yard, at very low prices. Also, Canton Straw Table Mats.

april 15

istf

STRAW BONNETS.—A large assortment of super-

Durable, Eleven Braids and Tuscan Bonnets, for sale by the case, dozen or single, by ISAIAH FAXON, No 91 Court street, 2d door from Concert Hall. im march 23

istf

GEORGE P. THOMAS. Nos. 51 and 53, Broad st.

Auction and Commission Rooms, No. 111, Washington street

istf

E. N. STRATTON & CO.

Auction and Commission Rooms, No. 111, Washington street

istf

SALES EVERY EVENING DURING THE WEEK.

A valuable assortment of miscellaneous books, splendid to-bibles—pocket, new and school do—works on history—biographies—voyages—travels—novels and romances—school books of various kinds—Watts and select hymns—&c. &c.

Also—warranted time pieces—watches—miscellaneous and fancy goods—invoices of Dry Goods—best dag and bandana hukis, &c.

Also—blank books assorted and warranted—letter paper—

oakscap and pot do—Dutch quilts—Russia Fabrics—straps—Kidder's indeable ink—Holden's do—ivory, wood and and horn combs—best pearl shirt button—cast and vest do—black ink—leads for ever pointed pencils—lead and slate pencils—Hemming's needles, &c. &c.

Also, a few tons of Bologna Hemp. istf may 28

istf

CAVENDISH CLOVES.—60 barrels of superior quality, for sale by F. E. WHITE, 22 Long wharf.

is2w June 10

WANTED.—A young man, in a private family, in this city. Inquire at 19 School street. June 10

SITUATIONS WANTED.—For 2 young men, to work in stables. Inquire at 19 School street. June 10

THE TWIN SISTERS.—Or the advantages of Religion. Jacob Faithful, by the author of Peter Simple.

The Frolics of Flick, in 2 vols.

Ballou's Examination on the Doctrine of Future Retribution just received and for sale by B. B. MUSSEY, No 23 Cornhill. june 7

THE REAL FRENCH CALF SKIN BRAC-

ES. A prime article, and superior to any thing in the surveyor line, ever offered in this market—for sale at Chambers 33 School st., T. H. FOSTER, successor to J. G. SOUTHE.

june 7

T & F CO.—

Previous to the Dema, the Farce called the WRONG BOX.

Dulestar Star Mr E. S. Hill

Bobby Philimore Miss Lane

1st

</

